Our History

The legacy of our grandpa Giannis lives on in the olive trees that he lovingly tended in the vineyard where the villas now proudly stand. The tradition of producing our own olive oil from these trees has been passed down through the generations, honoring the deep-rooted connection to the land and the heritage it represents.

Each bottle of olive oil carries with it a history of hard work, dedication, and respect for nature, embodying the essence of our family's commitment to preserving and sharing the timeless art of olive oil production.

As we harvest the olives and press them into golden liquid, we are not just making oil; we are bottling a piece of our history and culture for all to savor and enjoy.
